

BORG INDAK

A PROUD MEMBER OF THE INDAK GROUP OF COMPANIES

Borg Instruments was founded more than 80 years ago by George Borg, who also created the Borg-Warner Corporation. Our original products were mechanical clocks for use in cars. At the time this was a technical challenge because roads were terrible and cars didn't ride very smoothly, but Borg's designs were up to the task.

Over the years Borg led many changes in timekeeping technology, including the giant leap from mechanical clocks to electronics. In 1994 we joined the Indak Group, and changed our name to Borg Indak.

Today as part of the Indak Group, Borg Indak manufactures a wide variety of electronic assemblies including automotive controls, sensors and lighting; medical equipment; and commercial LED lighting fixtures.
